“Train the Facilitator” Online Workshop

On Wednesday, 9 June 2021, MMC realised the “Train the Facilitator (Student)” Online Workshop in the framework of the project MATE (Erasmus+, KA203, 2018), with the aim of training the participants in facilitating intercultural events (the MATEvents) with groups of local and foreign students and other young individuals. The material for the MATEvents builds on the concept of “human universals or commonalities” of Donald E. Brown (1991), which focus on the common elements, attributes and values of all humanity. Through the interactive activities and the conclusions of the workshop, the participants were provided with even more arguments against racism and intolerance and in favour of respect for diversity while they also got prepared for facilitating the MATEvents.
