Susedi Transformation Agents

Course >

As part of SUSEDI's commitment to institutional transformation, a series of action-based activities have been integrated into the training journey of Transformation Agents. These activities are not just reflective exercises—they are practical missions that invite participants to directly apply the Whole Institution Approach (WIA) in their own educational settings. From stakeholder mapping and gap analysis to crafting change scenarios and simulating real-life coaching and mentoring interactions, each activity empowers educators and leaders to translate sustainability theory into tangible, systemic change. By working within their own institutional ecosystems, Transformation Agents actively test strategies, identify resistance points, and co-design sustainability pathways—turning the SUSEDI roadmap into a living, dynamic process of transformation.

The online platform will now serve as an interactive environment where learners can engage with content through action based activities and self-assessment tools that reinforce critical reflection and action planning. This phase marks a critical transition from framework conceptualisation to the creation of accessible, high-impact learning resources. As we move closer to the platform launch, we invite stakeholders, trainers, and institutional leaders to explore the content, provide feedback, and collaborate in shaping the final version of the SUSEDI learning experience. The platform reflects our shared commitment to embedding sustainability at the core of education systems and empowering agents of transformation across Europe.
